

POTJIEKOS COMPETITION

Potjiekos is a traditional South African Meal. It takes skill to bring out all the flavours in a meal like this and is usually done around a fire, where participants, relax, have fun and laugh.

We have brought in the competitive side of the event by building teams. The group is divided in smaller teams. The teams need to collaborate with one another in order to plan the best tasting meal. Each group needs to present a meal to the head facilitator and will be judged. A winning team will be announced who receives a floating Trophy and the groups eat from their own creations.
